ACCESS

Help Stop Opioid Overdoses and Save Lives

New over-the-counter drug Narcan can reverse the effects of opioid misuse

Opioid overdose is a major problem in the United States. The misuse of opioids went from bad to worse during the COVID-19 pandemic. And, it has worsened ever since.

Opioids are prescribed drugs used to control pain. These include prescription drugs such as:

- Norco
- Vicodin
- Morphine
- Fentanyl

Outlawed drugs like heroin also contain opioids. If someone takes too much of these drugs (opioid overdose), it can lead to:

- Slow, shallow breathing
- Unconsciousness
- Death

There is good news!

The drug naloxone can reverse the effects of opioid overdose and save lives. It blocks the effects of opioids in the brain and allows normal breathing to return.

On March 29, 2023, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved Narcan, a non-prescription 4 mg nasal spray for over-the-counter (OTC) use. It's the first naloxone product approved for use without a prescription.<sup>1</sup>

Soon, Narcan will become available to purchase without a prescription at many places throughout California. Narcan comes as an OTC nasal spray or as a shot (by prescription). Plus, anyone with the proper training can administer it. This includes family members, friends and emergency workers.

If you or someone you know is at risk of opioid overdose, it is important to have naloxone on hand for quick access and use.

Centene Named a Top 50 Company for Diversity by DiversityInc

In early May, Centene was named a DiversityInc Top 50 Company for Diversity for the fourth consecutive year during a ceremony where CEO Sarah London addressed fellow leaders in Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI).

The DiversityInc Top 50 survey is one of the most comprehensive, data-driven DEI analyses based on information from some of the largest U.S. employers. The ranking highlights six key areas: leadership accountability, human capital diversity metrics, talent programs, workplace practices, supplier diversity and philanthropy.

"It is an honor to once again be recognized by DiversityInc," said Sarah London, Centene CEO. "At Centene, diversity, equity and inclusion are intrinsic to our company's culture. As an organization that serves diverse populations in local communities across the nation, we recognize the varied insights and experiences of our employees are critical to our success and our ability to transform the health of the communities we serve."

We commit to advancing DEI across our company, culture and communities. Our diverse workforce, representative of our more than 28 million members, best delivers high-quality, culturally sensitive health care. Employees companywide will further efforts in a virtual DEI & Health Equity Summit.

In addition to this most recent acknowledgement, our teams across the organization are consistently recognized for the elevation of DEI in every aspect of all we do. Centene was named to the Forbes Best Employers for Diversity 2023 List in April and named one of America's Best Workplaces for Women by Newsweek magazine.

Our dedication to gender equity also was recognized by our inclusion in the 2023 Bloomberg Gender-Equality Index and Newsweek's America's Greatest Workplaces for Diversity 2023.
